NEW PRINCIPLES OF PURGATION.

CORNARO'S Purifying and Preserving PILLS.

THE American public has for a long time been the victim of a false and dangerous system of medicine founded on the practice of LONG CONTINUED AND UNRELIEVED PURGATION The evils of this old system are of the most wide-spread and alarming character. They have reached through every vein and artery of our nation — In every city, and village, and hamlet—in every State and Territory of our vast Republic, will be found those who have suffered, or who are still suffering from the injurious effects of this old system, of whose practical utility the disease, decay and utter prostration of those who test it furnish the most condemning proofs.

COMMON DRASTIC PURGATION

Scours out the system by the most improper and violent means, and then leave it, weak low, feeble debilitated, to regain its strength as best it may — Sometimes the consequences of this old Purgative practice are worse than mere Debility Inflammation of the Bowels, Slow Fever, Bloody Piles, and other horrible disorders are produced, simply from the want of some enlivening and preserving power in the medicine employed Sometimes the digestive organs are deeply and permanently injured by this coarse and unphilosophical practice, leaving the patient AN INVALID FOR LIFE

The alarming evils and absurdities of the old system of Purgation, have led to the introduction of a new Life-giving Medicine called CORNARO'S PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS, which are established on this new and only true principle of Purgation viz

NO PURGATION WITHOUT IMMEDIATE RESTORATION

The use of this admirable Purgative remedy strikes a death blow to that abominable system, which by continually evacuating the bowels without any conservative or saving power so dreadfully and fearfully prostrates and injures the unhappy patient. These Purifying and Preserving Pills are believed to constitute the perfection of medicine, being a UNIVERSAL VEGETABLE PURGATIVE containing two great remedies combined viz One remedy to PURIFY FROM CORRUPTION, and another to PRESERVE FROM INJURY AND DECAY

And for the purpose of attaining the highest degree of purity in the preparation of these Pills; Dr Bradlee has at a vast expenditure of time and money, invented and patented at Washington, a chemical and philosophical apparatus for distilling and refining vegetable extracts called

THE SEVEN-FOLD FURNACE,

A powerful and novel machine—having Seven Fires and Seven Alembics, with distilling, condensing and evaporating fixtures of a new and ingenious contrivance, capable of obtaining more than seven times the ordinary purity of any vegetable extract heretofore used in compounding medicine. The Balsamic and Preserving power of these Pills is also by this invention, highly purified and refined, and so mingled with the operative medicine, that it repairs all the injuries created by Purgation as soon as they are caused, and strongly fortifies the system against future corruption and decay

Let the public be no longer deceived by the advertisements of the 'one remedy' doctors, who show their entire ignorance of the organic laws of the human system by supposing that a medicine which purges merely, without renovating or preserving can be a perfect remedy For it is a fixed and immutable law of our being that there should be in no case, Purgation without immediate Restoration; and hence it follows, and is proved to demonstration that all Purgatives which DO NOT possess a saving and preserving power, are injurious, and injurious only — and possess NOT ONE REDEEMING QUALITY

The whole theory of common drastic Purgation is based upon unnatural and absurd laws and they who follow it fall victims to their own folly and too late repent their temerity

☞ BEWARE OF UNRELIEVED PURGATION! Purge and Preserve, or do not attempt to Purge at all

☞ The celebrated PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS purify the body from corruption and preserve it from injury and decay by a single operation They are a Universal Vegetable Purgative, of sovereign use in all diseases of the human system in which purgation is required, particularly in Jaundice Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Eruptions of the [illegible] Bilious Disorders, Liver Complaint Fevers, Nervous Disorders, [illegible] Weakness Cholic, Dysentary, Worms Gout Rheumatism, Female Complaints, Depression of Spirits, Debility of System, &c &c

☞ Price 25 cents per Box, with full directions, Essay on Health and Long Life, &c.

LIFE INSURANCE.

No. 14, Exchange Street, PORTLAND.

LITTLE & BROTHER are Agents for the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York

In this Company the whole of the nett profits is divided personally among the insured and the amount is endorsed on the Policy, and the whole amount is payable on the death of the party to his or her representatives, thus combining the advantages of a Saving Institution of the best kind with Life Insurance, by which those who are not wealthy may provide for their families, and capitalists find a safe and profitable investment

The advantages of such insurance to the individual, to his family and to the community are obvious A person 30 years of age, by paying $15 annually, may secure $1000 to his family should he die within the year, and one in his 40th year can do the same by paying $1 69

A young man 21 years of age, without capital by paying $9 00 may obtain a Policy for $1000 [illegible] purchase tools or a horse, [illegible] tion. We have already made Policies for such purposes

A creditor may give himself additional security for a debt due him by insuring on a debtor's life

In England where investments pay not over 3 per cent per annum, the profits to assured have been very great, as the following will show, viz a person at the age of 30 effected insurance on his life for $1000, at the expiration of 30 years by the death of the insured, the accumulated profits together with the sum insured, gave his heirs about $3000. In this Company the investments (nearly large) are now paying 5 per cent, and the profits are likely that the results with this office will be equally favorable, if not more so

No person having a family who is able to pay $1 00 per month should delay a moment, to obtain a Policy at this office.

THE reasons why Clothing can be sold at this Establishment so much LOWER than at any other places are these

First—Our retail sales are about ten times the amount of any other establishment in Boston

Second We do a sole Cash Business, consequently the purchaser does not have to pay for the defaulting debtor's clothes, and all the genteel class of trade that have been in the habit of ordering their clothes up town and their bill sent once or twice a year, have found that they can make a SAVING OF ABOUT ONE HALF, by cash down, at OAK HALL and can get a garment made as good style, or a little better

["If I were to judge by some samples worn which sit upon the human form divine' as 'though nature's journeymen had made them, AND NOT MADE THEM WELL,"] so that with all this immense trade of Custom Work, and a large quantity sold daily ready-made, I am enabled to sell at

It is not to a town or city or a state
Or a nation, that we our addresses confine,
All our plans are mature and our efforts are great
O'er all climes of the earth without rival to shine!
To all nations we speak! for all nations we toil!
And we look for support in this glorious strife,
We resolve that no obstacle ever shall foil
The grand aim of our heart, while we linger in life!
We discard all the snares and the frauds of the trade
We lift up the standard of spotless reform;

And we trust [illegible] ed.
The smile of the world will defend from the storm,
We repose in the public a confidence strong,
And believe that they will not neglect our endeavor,

Mass Meeting of the Whigs of Cumberland.

POLITICAL.

Loco Meeting at Orono.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier

ORONO, Aug. 10, 1844

This is the day of the loco gathering in this village, and Col Moore is in the chair After great drumming and drilling by the leaders and file leaders—sending one through the county for the purpose of getting out the people to this meeting, they have in numbers about two thirds as many as attended the Whig rally here a week ago, and of this number about one fourth are Whigs, who are enjoying themselves hugely while hearing the speeches of the distinguished orators, who [illegible] insult the intelligence of our people by statements and arguments that imply that we are fools We know full well such speeches as have been made will make Whigs I am sure we shall gain more than a dozen of votes by this meeting —

Col Parks first addressed the meeting and undertook to prove that the old federal party and the present Whig party are the same, I could not help thinking that this same gallant Col, while there was a federal party was a blue-light anti-war fed, and our candidate the glorious Harry of Old Kentucky was a war democrat and the pillar of that party against which the Col, was patriotically fighting

He undertook to prove that the Whigs were responsible for the sins of the old federalists — I think this is rather hard considering we are no relation to the Colonel's old party—but I thought it would bear severely on Polk if we were to hold him responsible for the sins of old Zeke Polk his spotted grandfather—that old Tory you know piloted Cornwallis in the Revolution But the Col, winked slyly and went oh He came down next on the old U S Bank, and oh, how I pitied George M Dallas as the Col, proved that he must have been in 1832 a fool or a scamp when he went in so strong for that old monster

He then declared war upon the Tariff and said he had it recently from ship builders that in consequence of the Tariff it cost $7 a ton more than formerly to build vessels Did he suppose any body believed it? Did you Col?

Passing to Texas he declared the only way to get rid of slavery was to annex Texas—(thus make some six more slave States in one Union) The Col, was a rank Calhoun man, he thinks Calhoun is a man of great intellect and power and he knows Calhoun wants Texas to strengthen the institution of slavery for he says so in his official correspondence—the Col, knows the Southern States favor the treaty on this account, and yet he supposes we shall swallow down the doctrine that if you increase the circle of slavery you will weaken the institution itself

He closed with an eulogy on James K Polk, and said his grandfather was not a Tory for he signed the Mecklenburg declaration Oh, it was naughty Col to tell that fib Did not you know that the Globe has been obliged to admit that Ezekiel did not sign that declaration, and has so stated within a few days Did not you know that his name was interpolated in a copy made to help Jemmy in Tennessee

Next came Hannibal—him the puissant lullaby orator of Hampden How, oh how, shall I describe the mighty effort of this wonderful genius. The staple of his speech was an attack on the protective system He declared himself in favor of a revenue tariff, and alleged that any other was unjust and unconstitutional, and in one tremendous burst that shook earth's foundation and made the little boys to giggle, said if the people could see the tax on nails as it was they would rebel as their fathers did (probably as old Polk did) in 1776 Said the tariff was designed to protect a few That the duty on cottons was 200 per cent On iron from 40 to 150 per cent and 30 per cent only on splendid carpets for the rich Oh, ye man of Hampden, why did not ye tell us that you, yes you supported McKay's bill which reduced the duties still lower on the "rich man's carpets, and raised the duties on the poor man's chocolate Yes, Hannibal, you voted in every division with the friends of that bill, a bill to take the tax from the rich man's carpet and to put it on the poor man's drink — Out, out on such miserable humbuggery to wheedle the voters of Penobscot that they may aid you to Congress to vote for revenue duties and the interests of British labor You may "come the double action" Hannibal, but you "cant come it" He told us that the York Manufacturing Co divided 34 per cent per annum, and the next day voted to reduce the pay of their laborers (Mr Editor, ask some Saco man if this is true) Said the Clay Club had made their Head quarters in the old Bank building — (The locos carry on shaving in a barber's shop) Said wages were lower than ever, this year Now, Squire Hamlin! we should like to see your evidence. It aint so And he said that laborers dont get their pay at that (Here the President came near fainting away)

Complained bitterly that the duties on watches were only 7½ per cent —but never said that McKay's Bill, as is the fact, left the duties as before on watches, and that he gave that bill his support Oh, no, he never mentioned it Ohe! jam satis—enough of the rant demagogueism of this speech of sound and fury

Next on the rostrum was the "nice young man" from Brunswick, but as I heard him quite enough last night I came away

Now, Mr Editor, I have a "round unvarnished tale" delivered, and you may put in the Whig if you have a mind to

X Y Z

Garrison "ints off" the democracy thus wise— 'Marcus Morton, George Bancroft, Robert Rantoul, all the Massachusetts delegates,—voted for Polk! These are the pinks of democracy! The pirate flag of slavery is now the democratic banner The democratic party is wholly enlisted on the side of southern oppression and cruelty, it has no northern phase Men who can support it under such circumstances, are the enemies of God and the human race It is covered all over with uncleanness and blood — It has stolen the sacred name of liberty and with the same [illegible] in the same spirit and intent that Satan assumed [illegible] of light. A more profligate and desperate party never existed on earth We use strong terms, but they are called for by a righteous moral indignation, in view of facts as indisputable as they are appalling

From the National Intelligencer

People of the North be not Deceived.

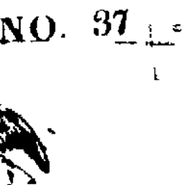
It is proper that the people of the North should be fully informed of the expectations of the Polk men of the South, where Free Trade is the great doctrine A Mobile paper thus notices a speech at a late Polk meeting in that city—

"Mr Chandler's speech at the Democratic tent, on Saturday night, was in his usual eloquent, impassioned, and brilliant style He commenced by saying that party lines were now broadly and distinctly drawn, that Mr Clay was the candidate of the Protective Tariff party, and Mr Polk of the Free Trade party."

☞ The Cincinnati Gazette states that a loco orator, Mr Hainar, wishing to prove his acquaintance with Mr Polk declared that he had slept and played cards with him.

Oppression.

Have fellowship with none who take
The laborer's hire away—who break
God's perfect laws, and in disguise
Practice deceit—who deem it wise
In base hypocrisy to dress,
To wrong the poor and fatherless—
And yet most sanctified they stand
Among the Savior's chosen band



Hail! American Yeomanry Statesmen and all
Go ye up, with a shout, to the Whig council hall
O'er your sittings will I, your old Ensign, preside,
Whom your fathers, in raptures of pleasure, descried
All gaudily plumed in the prime of my pride
In defence of those rights which old England denied,
There over those heroes I circled around—
A glad omen of victory—a Prophet profound
For full well did I know,
As I saw them below,
In that struggle of wo,
They would vanquish their foe

Soon your Star in its glory, shone brighter [illegible]
With the glow of a planet of "magnitude first"
Your laws, pure as gold, and as lasting as steel
Were refined in a furnace that glowed with a zeal
That American patriots only could feel
While cementing, in union their country's [illegible]
But wo! wo to those wolves in sheep's clothing disguised
Whose evil intentions have long been surmised
I allude to those Locos the same
Who, suffused with no smile of shame,
Have played such an infamous game
On the dish of your far gleaming fame

In that dark eighteen hundred and fortieth year
When the aspect of finance, and all, looked so drear
Were the trammels and chains which, twelve years I had worn
By the voice of this nation asunder all torn
Then, unfeathered as bare as a sheep that is shorn,
From the hole of that Fox I was tenderly borne
By a Coon to a [illegible] to see the strange elf—
But by zounds! I could hardly believe 'twas myself
I exclaimed at the object in view
Sir, one thing must be certainly true,
That I, old as I am, never knew
Such a strange human being as you.

But by dint of a Tariff ere long I was fledged,
Then unbounded my honor, but sacredly pledged,
I was trav'ling on high by the side the sea shore,
When in range of my flight, as I spoke Baltimore
I heard o'er the din of the ocean's loud roar,
Such a shrill dying shriek as I ne'er heard before—
I turned on the wing, and the tragedy reached
When, elate with revenge I triumphantly screeched
O'er the corse of the slain,
As he struggled in vain
In his anguish and pain
At the thoughts of his reign

I eulogized not nor enshrined his grey locks,
But all transport with joy at the fate of the fox,
I mounted on high in most agile display,
And as bounding aloft over Chesepeake Bay,
I discovered that Coon in his round a bout grey,
Preparing his nest in a Bank of firm Clay,
While watching in silence that Architect there,
My flight was recalled over Baltimore square,
When lo! on arriving thereat,
On the top of an hickory sat,
Mid disunion and clamorous chat,
A Southern disgusting Polkat

As the name of this strange and obscure Nominee,
Never chanced to be known but in old Tennessee,
Not a day had elapsed ere I waved o'er that State,
When behold! what still farther excited my hate
Was this species of kat with his wide opened mouth.
Giving chase to a thing* that inhabits the South
This foul pot, far too bitter for the bottomless pit,
Could no longer be screened from intuitive wit
So fiercely the north winds have blown,
That this tott'ring huge Fabric 'twas known,
Could no longer in sin stand alone
Be it T[illegible] was its chief corner stone.

While thoughtfully conning on what could be done,
Forth burst myriads of voices commingling in one,
As if to startle the dormant that slept in their graves;
'T was the heart rending wailings of three millions slaves,
Down trodden by a party of [illegible] knaves
Who to strengthen their chains, Annexation now craves,
But I swore in my wrath that this never should be,
So long as my talents were granted to me
Now burdened with thoughts of the oppressed,
I took neither refreshment or rest,
Till I routed the Coon from his nest,
And as follows his honor addressed.

Thou Co-worker of good, Transcendently great,
Follow me to the spot where the doomed met his fate,
His aerial pilot he steadfastly eyed
Till both stood by the fox where he lay, as he died
I then said, even here is apparatus complete
For wielding the pen in the Polkat's defeat,
Of his skin a fine parchment for me you may make Then his skull, never fit for aught else, you may take
And prepare me an inkstand, as lasting as zinc,
Then his crimson, though clotted, will answer for ink,—
Here are quills he usurped from my beautiful crest
Which I've found, since he died where he feathered his nest,
Then I'll write of the honorless dead,
And expose the vile life he has led,
With his own [illegible]
Inshelled in his ignoble head

So each article soon he ingeniously made,
For which I to our his Coonship was liberally paid,
When at length in a grave, but ironed way,
This witty Mechanic effected to say
[illegible] like his nest at the Bay
That was based upon [illegible]
Were it not for this Tariff protective he thought,
For which the good Whigs have successfully fought,
These things from the far foreign climes would be brought Then such labor as this he might vainly have sought
Now my baggage I hung on my neck like a bell,
And bidding the Coon a most hearty farewell,
I raised me aloft on the wing,
A princely aerial King,
No dirge of the Fox did I sing
Nor larum attempted to fling

The last hope of the slave being well nigh surrounded,
And the [illegible] of this nation so shamefully wounded
That, in letters of BLOOD must this larum be sounded,
Till its anchor in Clay shall be faithfully grounded
I then, with [illegible] directed my flight
To a spot most romantic and far out of sight,
Where now in a castle of towering height,
Mid the turrets of modern Palmyra I write
Even here can I chant my Whig lay,
For their walls I am happy to say
Can never, in time, wash away,
Being based on a stratum of Clay.

Whether over this County I leisurely roam,
Or sit on the vane of my picturesque dome,
I can see in the morning at night, and at noon,
An animal closely resembling the Coon
Strutting forth to and fro, and achieving great victories
Turning Somerset off from Ulster hickories,
Right side up, as it turns, he will [illegible] in the way
It will [illegible] on the sure [illegible] CLAY.

Editorial Correspondence.

UP IN THE COUNTRY, Aug 6, 1844.

To our old Cushioned Chair:

Out in the country, old friend—rolling upon the grass, with our little ones beneath the shade of the well laden fruit trees—inhaling the breath of the sweet meadows and without your support! For a long period we have worked while resting upon you and to obtain a little rest have worked our way out into the country, taking with us a portion of our family to be made glad by visiting the old homestead receiving the affectionate greeting of aged parents and associating with the loved friends and scenes of other days.

But yesterday we left you, yet such have been the numerous impressions made upon the brain that the brief period seems to have been lengthened to at least a week. The morning of our departure was one of the lovliest of the season, and we met on board the noble steam boat Charter Oak a happy company of more than a hundred passengers, which was increased to about two hundred, when we left Thomaston. Capt. Howes the commander of the Charter Oak, justly enjoys the confidence of the traveling community, for his ready attentions to all his passengers, his gentlemanly deportment, his acknowledged ability as a seaman and pilot and his unerring skill in the various circumstances in which his profession calls him to act. He has officers in whom he can rely, and whose faithful attention to duty has earned for them an honorable reputation. These are no small considerations on a line of travel so extensive as that from Bangor to Boston where many thousands annually pass to and fro. They give that confidence which secures to our city many visiters who might otherwise never be delighted with the natural beauties of the Penobscot Bay or acquainted with the enterprise and thrift of our goodly city. Give us, say we, good facilities for travel such as merit the confidence of the public.

The passage to Portland was exceedingly pleasant the weather delightful and the water as smooth as a mill pond. The time was spent in political discussions, singing, conversation and reading. We arrived at an early hour and found the train of cars ready to take passengers to Boston and those who availed themselves of this mode of conveyance reached the great city at eight o'clock in the evening. We preferred spending the night in Portland wishing to take the upper train, in the morning, to Lowell—We found excellent accommodations at the United States Hotel, kept by our former fellow citizen at Bangor Abijah Jones, Esq. He is winning golden opinions in this city. He has worked a thorough reform in the management of this noble house and has made it worthy the confidence of all. On coming here he found somewhat of a bad reputation attached to the house, but his decided and energetic and manly administration of its affairs has given him and his establishment a good name. He makes his customers feel all the freedom of home, while he supplies them with all the luxaries of the season and furnishes every desirable elegance for his tables. May he long live and prosper.

An early breakfast was prepared for us this morning and at a quarter past six o'clock we started in the train for the west. We had some curiosity in observing the careful management of affairs at this depot, the whole being under the direction of Mr Russell, and from what we saw, we venture to make the remark that a passenger, whose baggage is properly marked never need fear the loss of injury of any article by those connected with this road. We saw a poor girl, in search of a little basket that she had left behind in some car without mark and on describing her little budget it was soon found and handed her—indeed we think that even a pair of gloves left in the cars would be likely to reach their owner, if he sought for them.

At South Berwick the train separated one portion going on to Boston by the way of Portsmouth the other through Exeter and Andover connecting with the Lowell train at Wilmington and so down to Boston; or those wishing to go to Lowell or up into New Hampshire can at [illegible] this place.

In leaving the village of Dover as the engine was increasing its speed, several children were seen frolicking by the side of the track. One boy started and run across the track ahead of the Engine, a feat of daring deserving the severest censure. The shrill whistle was sounded, when his example was attempted to be followed by a little girl between two and three years old. Every effort was made to arrest the progress of the train but before it could be done the engine and tender and one car and the forward wheels of another car had passed over the child. The startling cry of 'a child killed' chilled the blood in many veins. We sprang from the car, having a child in the care of its mother in one of the saloons, just as the injured child was taken up from beneath the car by one of the conductors. We saw its drooping head and a part of its dress and feared and felt that it was my child. Another glance assured us to the contrary, but what parent's heart could not sympathise in such a case. The expiring child was laid upon the green turf, while the stream of life was rapidly pouring from the severed arteries. We seized the ends of the arteries in our grasp, while the beautiful child looked pleasantly up in our face as though a smile was passing over its countenance, and on examination we found a large bruise upon its forehead, and that its thigh from the knee up to above the hip joint, on the inside was crushed to atoms, the hip joint severed from its socket, and a part of the bowels exposed and injured. Life was fast receding and soon its distressed friends came rushing to the scene, rending the air with their agonizing groans and exclamations. A man was left to attend what aid might be needed and we returned with the conductor to the cars, where the passengers were bathed in tears, to pursue our journey, feeling that life is held by a slight tenure and that the preservation of our child called for the sincerest gratitude.

At noon we arrived at Lowell and immediately proceeded to this ancient farming town where on one of its best farms we are now resting.

GOOD NIGHT.

Whig Spirit in Old Hancock.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

Well knowing that you and the readers of the Whig feel interested in the progress of the good cause in Old Hancock, I have concluded to send you a few facts and thoughts relative to our prospects in this and some of the neighboring towns which I have recently had occasion to visit.

You are already aware that Ellsworth, Bluehill, and several other towns in this county, have for sometime past been wide awake, and that correct principles in these parts are making gratifying progress. You have heard of the activity and efficiency of our Clay Clubs, which have frequently been aided by the labors of gentlemen from other towns, and you will no doubt be pleased to learn more of our doings.—Well then, on Wednesday evening last, the Ellsworth Clay Club, was addressed by the Hon ELIJAH L. HAMLIN, of your city, in a practical speech of very good sense upon the resources and wants of Maine, and the depressing influence which bad government has had upon her growth, interspersed here and there with spicy anecdotes and flashes of wit, which together with the facts rendered it both instructive and amusing.

Mr Robinson of Ellsworth addressed his whig friends at Mount Desert on the 3d instant, and Mr Lowell the Clay Club of Bluehill on the evening of the 8th. These gentlemen are active and zealous in the Whig cause, and with many others are doing all in their power to advance its interests both at home and abroad.—The Whigs of Bluehill are whole souled fellows, and doing the right thing, and so too are they of Deer Isle.

The Whigs of Bucksport, Orland, Castine, and Sedgwick, though rather late, are arousing and buckling on their armor in battle array.—Some of these towns have, in former times, done wonders, particularly Bucksport, and though some what behind the age in the present campaign, are at length preparing for a vigorous onset upon the enemy, and will, we trust, at the election, give good evidence that "Richard is himself again." Important changes are reported in several of these towns, and some of them of a very interesting character. The people seem to understand the principles and policy of the two parties and their bearing upon great national interests, much better than they did formerly, and to be determined to stand by the country instead of adhering to experimenting demagogues.

Great preparations are making in various portions of the county, especially in this vicinity, for attending the Convention at Cherryfield on the 22d inst. It is expected that the delegations will be large from all parts, and particularly from Ellsworth, whose Club are going en masse, with Banner and Badges, under the escort of the beautiful Company of Hancock Cadets, commanded by Capt Wm. H. Black, with a fine Band of music, several members of which are to come from Bangor. The whole number from Ellsworth is expected to range from 100 to 150, perhaps 200.

There seems to be a strong desire to see and hear Mr Evans, and to do every thing possible to sustain the Tariff and other great interests of the country. The people begin to think that that "democracy" is best for them which feeds their bellies, clothes their backs and furnishes them with comfortable homes, and with the means of sending their children to school. And we understand that our friends in Washington County are equally alive to these absorbing interests, and will be fully represented in the Convention. We are told that a host are to come from Machias, and that our spirited friends at Cherryfield have hearts and houses open to receive and comfort their Whig friends. Upon the whole we expect to see at the Cherryfield Convention one of the most interesting and imposing assemblages that ever met east of the Penobscot, and recommend to all candid and inquiring minds of both parties, who can, to be present, and hear the able and enthusiastic discussions of the principles and policy of the two parties.

To us it seems as clear as the sun at noon day, and that the indisputable facts of the case must convince all reflecting minds which examine the case, that the whig party of the present day occupy precisely the same ground with regard to Executive power, Tariff, Currency, Internal Improvements, Distribution, &c. as did Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Munroe and other kindred spirits at the formation of the Constitution, and by all its early democratic expounders. And as a necessary consequence [illegible] upon the ground, and [illegible] ultra and monarchial of the old Federalists of 1798. If this were a legal instead of a political question, could a Jury of twelve intelligent and upright men, hesitate one moment about bringing in a verdict to this effect? We entreat fair minds and lovers of their country to examine this matter.

LEONIDAS.

Ellsworth, Aug. 10, 1844.

Song.

Written for the occasion of the Agricultural Address at the Sixteenth Anniversary of the American Institute. 1843.

BY RUFUS DAWES.

When o'er the briny ocean-wave,
From dark oppression's strand,
Our pilgrim fathers found a home
Upon this western land:
"God speed the [illegible]," the heroes cried,
"God speed the noble plough!"
And echo, through two hundred years,
Cries, "Speed the noble plough!"

The gloomy forest heard the voice;
And bowed before the blade;
While Plenty shouted after Toil,
Who furrowed with the spade:
"God speed the primal gift to man,
"God speed the noble plough!"
And echo through two hundred years,
Cries, "Speed the noble plough!"

Now midst impenetrable wilds,
Like magic, sprang to day
Wide fields of yellow waving corn,
That smiling, seemed to say—
"God speed the primal gift to man, &c.

Then Commerce, with her million wings,
Exulting owned her birth,
And [illegible] while [illegible] through the seas,
She turned the mother earth:
"God speed the primal gift to man, &c.

All wealth, all glory worth the name,
All happiness and peace,
Springs from the furrowed land that yields
To Labor rich increase:
Then speed the primal gift to man,
God speed the noble plough!
And may God's [illegible] rest upon
The venerable plough!
